"Under these circumstances there was not the slightest need for Mr. Crom-"Under these circumstances there was not the slightest need for Mr. Cromwell to give any information on the subject of the companies for which he had been counsel. This government has no concern with Mr. Cromwell's relation to these companies, or either of them, or with the amount of his professional compensation; it was not the affair of this government to inquire who were the security holders of the company. Nevertheless, Mr. Cr. well of his own accord has submitted to me, together with a copy of his statement published on the lith inst., and which I transmit herewith, a full list of stockholders of the New Panama Canal company of France, on January 15, 1900 (numbering over 6000), and a list of all stockholders who were present at a special meeting of the company held February 28, 1902, immediately after the cable offer of the company was made to the United States (January 9-11, 1902) to accept the appraisement of forty million dollars made by the Isthmian canal commission and to sell for said sum the Panama canal. by the Isthmian canal commission and to sell for said sum the Panama canal, concessions and other property and the shares of the Panama Railroad company."

Referring to accompanying documents, the president says no payment will be made upon the stock of the old Panama canal company, and he is informed the payments on the bonded indebtedness will be but 10 per cent. About 6000 shareholders of the new Panama company will receive payments, and they will recover their original investments with annual interest of about 3 per cent.

CARTER'S PLEA FOR POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Senator Carter today spoke in support of the postal savings bank bill, After referring to the various endorsements by politto the various endorsements by political conventions and other organizations of the meople of the postal savings banks. Mr. Carter said that while there are only 1452 savings banks there are more than 61,000 postoffices, 40,000 of which are money order offices, the declared that postal savings banks are in operation in practically all civilized countries of the world except the United States.

countries of the world except the United States.

He proposed, he said, to offer amendments to the bill reducing from $1000 to $500 the amount any person may 2-cosit in postal banks with interest dod from $200 to $100 the amount that may be deposited in any one month, and also to strike out the provision allowing any person to deposit money as trustees. These amendments, he said, world remove three objections that have

Points Out Opposition.

Mr. Carter read a circular signed by Lucien Teter, chairman of the committee on postal savings banks of the American Bankers' association, calling on the bankers to oppose the bill pending in the senute for the establishment of savings banks.

"I acquit the American Bankers' association for the statements made in this circular," said Mr. Carter.

He then read from the circular, which asked members of the American Bankers' association to present the enclosed arguments against postal savings banks to the local newspapers requesting that they be used as editorial or "write-ups." This circular, the senator said, exhibiting the printed slips, has the following clause:

"Please remove this slip before handing to newspapers."

"Please remove this slip before handing to newspapers."
"The purpose of this eautionary no tice." said Mr. Carter, "was to have the local banker slip up on the blind side of the paper and to relieve this committee from responsibility for loose statements used."

He added that he would publish all of these circulars in the Congressional Record so that they could be seen by the public.

Senator Carter later moved the consideration of the postal savings bank bill and his motion being carried, the measure became the unfinished business of the senate, displacing the joint reso-lution suspending the commodity clause lation suspending the commodity clause of the interstate commerce law.

The objections urged against the establishment of postal savings banks in this country, Mr. Carter said, had been urged also against their establishment in Great Britain, but now there was no sentiment against them there. All political parties, he said, were committed to the principle of the postal savings bank, and he urged the passage of the bill as an aid to the class of citizens most descriving of assistance of congress.

Senator Depew spoke in support of e bill. The bill has been in conference since the last session of congress.

An attempt to have both houses agree to the report before holiday adjournment will be made before the original section becomes effective January 1.

INSURGENTS' HOPES RUDELY SHATTERED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The hopes of the so-colled insurgents in the House of Representatives for a revision of the rules of that body were dissipated for the time being at least when Mr. Gardner, Massachusetts, today failed to obtain the adoption of an amended resolution calling for the appointment of a committee of eight to consider the subject and report to Congress what they deem necessary. A substantial majority of the House voted to take away from the committee on foreign affairs from the committee on foreign affairs consideration of the resolution, which in its original form simply called for information from the secretary of state regarding what the British House of Commons had done in that regard. A ruling by the speaker that the amendment of Mr. Gardner changed the character of the resolution in such a way as to not make it privileged was sustained, and the resolution then was laid on the table.

After passing some bills relating to the District of Columbia, the remainder of the day was taken up with the bill to revise the penal laws of the United States, which was considered at length during the last session.

WOULD PUT PUBLISHERS INTO THE LIMELIGHT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 .- With a view of letting the public know what influence operated upon it through the press, Representative Copper of Texas today introduced a bill to exclude newspapers and magazines from the mails until the names of the owner and editor or officers, directors and stock-holders be printed on its front page. "There is no agency in the govern-ment so powerful as newspapers to af-fect the politics and policies of the government and the morals of the peo-ple."

Representative Cooper, in discussing the bill, said: "This being true, the people have a right to know who their teachers are and what influences may operate upon them. If the people knew the owners of the paper and the influences and motives that may prompt the editorials and writings therein, they would be better able to give proper value and weight to the published articles."
